

CULTURE WEEK: LONDON

Heeey guys!

Sorry that I didn't post anything this week. But I was in London with my class, so let me now tell you what we did the whole week.

On Monday morning we met in front of our school and then we went by bus to Zurich airport, from there we flew to London Luton and there we had again two hours by bus to our Hostel. In the afternoon we did a paperchase, the task was to solve the questions and make crazy selfies in front of famous sights. Our group won and so we got a cute London keyring from our teachers.

On Tuesday, our class went to London Dungeon, but this sounded to spooky for me, so a friend of mine and me went to the Tate Museum, there were a lot of beautiful artworks and we took a lot of photos from the balcony on the 10th floor.

On Wednesday afternoon we went to the Sky Garden, and this was sooo beautiful. Guys if you are ever in London please go there! You can see over London from the 32nd floor and the garden on the top is a very magical place. After that we had free program choice, so me and my friends went shopping to Oxford Street, we got our makeup done by a professional makeup artist and we bought a lot of stuff.

On one day we went to a Candy Shop and bought a lot of British Sweets and tasted them with some friends in our Hostel. This was so interesting, I can really recommend it to you, trying sweets and food from other countries.

We also went to the Science Museum, Sherlock Holmes, British Museum and Greenwich.

On Friday morning we had to fly back to Austria. I was very sad, it was so cool (here I want to say thank you to all my friends, that we had so much fun) and I wanted to stay longer there.

But maybe I will come back some time.

Have you ever been in London, and which museums have you seen or what have you done there? Or do you want to go to London next time?

Please tell me in the comments. I can't wait to read your entries!!!

Yours, Joana
